Characteristics of the academic discipline

The purpose of studying the discipline: is to prepare students for training in the 1st year of a medical university. On the one hand, students must acquire the necessary knowledge in their chosen specialty, on the other hand, they must master the Russian language as a means of communication in a new language. To achieve this goal, it is necessary for students to master the prepositional-case and aspect-temporal systems of the Russian language, to form their vocabulary in the amount of at least 5000 lexical units, including the terminological minimum in subjects: biology, chemistry, physics.

Postrequisites of the discipline:

- Normal anatomy
- Basic pharmacology
- Clinical pharmacology
- •General surgery
- •Internal illnesses
- Infectious diseases

Learning outcomes of the discipline according to the RO GPP

The study of the Russian language will contribute to the achievement of RO1 of the OOP:

RO1: apply basic knowledge of natural-humanitarian, social, fundamental medical-biological and clinical disciplines in the field of diagnostics, treatment, prevention and rehabilitation of patients of different ages within their competence. # Monitoring and evaluation of learning outcomes. The content of the rating system for assessing student performance

The rating assessment of students' knowledge in each academic discipline, regardless of its total labor intensity, is determined on a 100 (one hundred) - point scale and includes current, boundary, intermediate and final control.

The distribution of rating scores between types of control is established in the following ratio (according to the table of the score-rating system of assessments):

	Form of control
current (CC)*	boundary control (BC)	mid-term exams (MC)	Final /exam (FE)	Discipline Rating (RD)
0-100 points	0-100 points	0-100 points	0-100 points	0-100 points, with the translation of points into a letter designation

Note:

\* TK(middle) =  $\frac{\sum_{1}^{n} \times point}{\sum_{1}^{n}}$ , where n is the number of types of classroom and extracurricular work of students in the discipline;

\*\*PK (middle) =  $\frac{\sum_{1}^{n} credit \times point}{\sum_{1}^{n} credits}$ , where n is the number of modules (credits) in the discipline;

\*\*\* $\Pi K \ (middle) = \frac{\sum_{1}^{n} \times point}{\sum_{1}^{n}}$ , where n is the number of intermediate controls (2 controls per semester: in the middle and at the end of the semester) by discipline;

****ИК – examination conducted at the end of the study of the discipline

; \*\*\*\*\* $P \Pi = \frac{TKcp + PKcp + \Pi Kcp + UK}{4}$ , the final rating of the results of all types of control at the end of the discipline;

GPA=  $\frac{\sum_{1}^{n} \times 6a\pi\pi}{\sum_{1}^{n}}$  where, n is the number of disciplines in the semester (for the past period of study).

A student who has not passed the current, boundary and intermediate controls to the final control (exam) is not allowed.

The current control is carried out during the period of classroom and independent work of the student on time according to the schedule, at the end of the study of the discipline, the average score of the current control (CC) is calculated. Forms of current control can be:

- testing (written or computerized);
- performance of individual homework assignments, abstracts and essays;
- student's work in practical (seminar) classes;
- various types of colloquia (oral, written, combined, express, etc.);
- control of performance and verification of reporting on laboratory work;
- visiting lectures and practical (seminar, laboratory) classes;
- Incentive rating (up to 10 points).

Other forms of current monitoring of results are also possible, which are determined by the teachers of the department and recorded in the work program of the discipline.

The frontier control is carried out in order to determine the results of the student's development of one credit (module) as a whole. Frontier control should be carried out only in writing, at the end of the study of the discipline, the average score of boundary control (BC) is calculated. As forms of frontier control of the training module, you can use:

- testing (including computer testing);
- interview with written fixation of students' answers;
- test.

Other forms of intermediate control of results are also possible.

Intermediate control (mid-term exams) is carried out in order to check the completeness of knowledge and skills in the material in the middle and end of the semester (2 times per semester) of studying the discipline, by the end of the study of the discipline, the average score of intermediate control (PCsr) is calculated, forms of intermediate control (mid-term exams) can be:

- testing (including computer testing);
- interview with written fixation of students' answers:
- test.

Other forms of intermediate control of results are also possible.

The final control is carried out during the session, by conducting an exam, it can be carried out in the following forms:

- testing (including computer testing);
- written exam (ticketing system).

Academic achievement requirements:

Attendance by students of all classroom classes without delay is mandatory.

In case of absence, classes are worked out in the order established by the dean's office.

If there are three passes, the teacher has the right not to allow the student to attend classes until the issue is administratively resolved.

If the absence of classes is more than 20.0% of the total number of classes, the student automatically enters the summer semester.

Note to the student:

- ✓ regularly review lecture material;
- ✓ Do not be late and do not miss classes;

- ✓ work off missed classes if you have permission from the dean's office;
- ✓ Actively participate in the classroom (individually and in groups;)
- ✓ timely and fully complete homework assignments;
- ✓ submit all assignments within the time specified by the teacher;
- ✓ independently study the material in the library and at home;
- ✓ timely and accurately fulfill the tasks of the teacher, individual tasks for the IWS to achieve learning outcomes;
- ✓ to master the basic and additional literature necessary for the study of the discipline;
- ✓ performing tasks, the student should not copy or reproduce the work of other students, scientists, practitioners, plagiarism;
- ✓ develop their intellectual and oratory skills;

In case of non-compliance with the requirements of the Memo, the student will be penalized in the form of deducting points (one point for each violated item).

If the requirements of the Memo are fully met, the student is encouraged in the form of an additional 10 points to the final control in the discipline.

Academic Integrity, Conduct and Ethics Policy:

- turn off your cell phone during class;
- Be polite;
- respect other people's opinions;
- formulate objections in the correct form;
- do not shout or raise your voice in the audience;
- independently complete all semester assignments;
- Eliminate plagiarism from your practice;

Methodical instructions.

It is recommended to organize the time required to study the discipline as follows:

When preparing for a practical lesson, you must first read the abstract with the teacher's explanations.

When performing exercises, you must first understand what you want to do in the exercise, then proceed to its implementation.

Literature work. The theoretical material of the course becomes more understandable when books are studied in addition to the abstract. After studying the main topic, it is recommended to perform several exercises.

Preparation for boundary and intermediate controls. In preparation for the boundary and intermediate control, it is necessary to study the theory: the definitions of all concepts before understanding the material and independently do several exercises.

Independent work of students is organized on all studied topics of each section. Independent work is carried out in the form of:

- work in Internet sites;
- work with basic and additional literature;
- fulfillment of written assignments;
- preparation of reports, abstracts, tables and posters on
